KWC BEVO E – Lightness in form and function

Premium stainlesssteel tap with high standards in terms of hygiene and safety.

A distinctive design feature is the unusually shaped spout. The double-walled design ensures extra safety in the spray-head models. The structure helps prevent burns. However hot the water is, the spray head remains cool on the outside.

An innovative extension – the KWC BEVO E Hybrid combines timeless design with modern sensor technology, enabling touchfree activation and automatic water shut-off.

The KWC BEVO E is now available in industrial black, brushed steel, brushed gold, brushed copper, and brushed graphite. Available from February 2026.

Convenient Protection

Thanks to TouchProtect, the spray head of the KWC BEVO E always remains pleasantly cool to the touch. The double-walled design significantly reduces the risk of burns.

Slimline design

The elegant KWC BEVO E reinterprets classic KWC design elements. No matter where it is installed, it always catches the eye in the kitchen, whether in stainless steel, industrial black, brushed copper, gold, or graphite.

Hybrid operation

A simple wave activates the cold water flow – completely contact-free and without leaving drops on the tap. It stops again just as automatically. Another wave and the water flows again. The sensor control of the hybrid version enables even greater hygiene in the kitchen.
