Press release

KWC stainless steel basin : Seamless elegance

Whether round or rectangular, the stainless-steel washbasin options from KWC impress with precise radii and edges. The special brushed finish on the material clearly stands out from conventional surfaces and harmonises perfectly with the stainless-steel lines KWC BEVO and KWC ORA. Beautifully sophisticated, yet also environmentally sound: at the end of its long lifecycle, the washbasin is fully recyclable.

The new KWC stainless steel basin is now available in matt black, brushed steel, brushed gold, brushed copper, and brushed graphite. Available from March 2026.

High-quality workmanship

Seamlessly manufactured and elegantly brushed, the stainless-steel washbasins combine aesthetic appeal with the highest precision. Every detail is characterised by flawless quality, while the geometric clarity of the proportions creates a balanced equilibrium.

Stylish accents

Whether round or square – the stainless-steel basins from KWC feature precise radii and elegant edges. The special brushing of the material is in stark contrast to conventional surfaces and harmonizes perfectly with the matching faucet lines.

Well rounded

The circular stainless-steel washbasins combine purist design with practical functionality. The durable material enables effortless, hygienic cleaning and a special coating reduces the appearance of fingerprints – perfect for everyday use.

Material of the future

Stainless steel – a hygienic, sustainable material that meets the high standards of our time. A commitment to consistency, functionality and style.
